

Day in the Life: Full-Time Senior Microsoft IT Consultant @Avaleris

7:30 AM BREAKFAST CLUB (optional)

Join your colleagues for the breakfast club, where we visit and rate breakfast places around the office.

8:00 AM EMAIL

Start your day by replying to client emails, troubleshooting and advising them on ongoing projects and RSVP'ing to the company baseball tournament.

8:30 AM ON-SITE

Go on-site to a client's office to work with their team on configuring a cloud security solution. Conduct a status meeting with their VP of Information Security.

12:00 PM LUNCH AND LEARN

Back in the office for a Lunch & Learn on new Microsoft products that we have access to before they are released to the public. Learn more about the Microsoft product roadmap from a colleague who attended a recent partner conference.

12:45 PM PROJECT CALL

Join a call with an account executive to discuss a new project with a prospective client who has an interesting challenge. Before advising on a Statement of Work, you decide to chat with a colleague who has worked with a similar IT environment a few months ago.

1:30 PM COFFEE BREAK

Walk out to the local Starbucks with your colleagues.

1:45 PM MENTORSHIP OPPORTUNITY

Complete some development tasks for this morning's client remotely, advancing their cloud security deployment by integrating with the other identity and access products in their environment. A recently hired junior consultant shadows you to learn about the technologies and your thought process.

3:30 PM WORKSHOP PREP MEETING

The marketing team wants your opinion on content for an educational workshop they are launching. You brainstorm with them and then decide to go back to your desk to set up a demo environment for this new technology, so you are ready when you need to deliver the workshop next month.

4:00 PM EMAIL

Before you finish your day, check email one more time. You have a message from the training manager to ask you about your progress in completing the latest Microsoft training and certification. You let him know that you are almost ready for your exam and that you will be setting some time aside next week to study.

4:45 PM WINE AND CHEESE

Make your way to the office kitchen where the quarterly Wine & Cheese is being held. You know that all the consultants who completed a project in the last two months will be recognized and you're looking forward to supporting your teammates as well as telling a story about an enterprise mobility project that you finished three weeks ago.

We attract highly skilled, focused, inquiring IT professionals. We are constantly learning as we work on a variety of challenging projects. As a consultant at Avaleris, you will affect change with an impressive client base and build expertise in cutting-edge Microsoft technology in the identity and access space.
